PatternSkinCssCookbook Recipe: Hide the top bar

This recipe shows how to hide the top bar and to put the logo in the left bar.

This line loads the extra style definition:

```
* Set USERSTYLEURL=%ATTACHURL%/notopbar.css
```

You can write this line in TWikiPreferences, in WebPreferences, in your user topic or on a single page.

Add the dynamic variable link to the logo image to the topic text:

<style type="text/css" media="all">
#patternLeftBar { background-image:url ("%PUBURLPATH%/%WEB%/%WEBPREFSTOPIC%/logo.gif"); }
</style>

[i] If you don't write this overloading style in a template and use an external .css file, you need to set the image to the absolute url:

<style type="text/css" media="all">
#patternLeftBar { background-image:url ("/twiki/pub/TWiki/WebPreferences/logo.gif"); }
</style>
```

You can always write a `<style>` in a topic - all current browsers support this - but the page won't validate as valid XHTML.
